End of Eagle's First Contest Period Draws Near

Payne Gap Road Group Holds First Meeting June 13th

The newly formed Payne Gap Road hold its first meeting on June 13, with 150 signed members. Election of officers was held and the following officers declared elected: Chairman, R. E. Harris, Treasurer, Dewey Holbrook, Secretary, Martin Bentley and Wesley Kilian. Committee on Membership, Joe Van over, Bill Penick, Ernest Page. An executive board of four members is being rapidly formed, and following the completion of the membership campaign which is in progress will grow by leaps and bounds.

A rapid fire on all fronts is the aim of this organization. Already County Court members have been interviewed concerning the right of ways for the road.

A committee has been appointed concerning power and light for the community. Plans for the formation of a P. T. A. association are in the offing.

Several persons from Whitesburg were present at the meeting. Charles Hogg, Doyle Hogg, Mart Potter, John Potter, Bill Adams, Bob May Potter and others.

Each man spoke of his interest in the project and declared himself as being sympathetic with its work.

Midford K. Rose, a local man and the principal speaker gave an excellent talk on conservation and road construction and stated that both had been abused and neglected.

R. E. Harris stated the association would remain neutral in religious and partisan politics, but by mutual cooperation with the county and state officials, their dreams of a highway would be realized. That the pressure of a large road opening would be used if necessary and that a road system on the state level would be used if necessary.

The early dawn of June the 16th, work began in earnest near the home of R. E. Harris. Harris is chairman of the Kentucky river association. Neighbors believed work on the new state road had begun in earnest—and it had. But a group of men headed by the Kim family are building a road to the mill site of the large holdings of the Eastern Kentucky Coal and Lumber Co. The holdings have been purchased by the Kim family and logging will start at once.

Harlow, Taylor On Kentucky Screen In Comedy Hit

The two are co-starring for the first time in the comedy drama, "Personal Property," opening Tuesday, June 29 at the Kentucky theatre, in which Taylor is seen as the neo-dwell son of an English family who becomes a butler in the home of his brother's fiancée, a widow from Iowa.

W. S. Van Dyke directed the picture, which was Miss Harlow's first under her new long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

In co-starring Miss Harlow, who won loud plaudits for her work in "Armad" opposite Garbo in "Camille," the studio has teamed two of its greatest box-office attractions.

Between six and eight men will be employed on the excavation. Mr. Hawk expects completion of the building so as to have it ready for occupancy by fall.

Doc Collier's Nerve Fails On Confinement Case, Recovered Now

Doctor Collier, sterling M.D. of Letcher County who has brought more babies into the world than you can shake a stick at, found his nerve failed him the other night.

Facing the door, biting his fingernails, otherwise exhibiting signs of extreme nervousness, Dr. Collier waited in an anti-room while Dr. Crawford brought the baby into the world. The only reason that we can offer to account for this extreme nervousness in an M. D. who has attended at the rites of hundreds of births, is the fact that the baby was his own. The young lady, weighed nine pounds at birth and has been named Margaret Fay. Both mother and babe are reported to be doing nicely, and it is perfectly evident that Doc has recovered.

Tyrone Power Has His Downs Also

Tyrone Power, who rocketed into fame within a few months of his entry into motion pictures, recently found himself one of Hollywood's crooniest actors.

Power and Loretta Young were paired in elaborate, treasury elevators built by Twentieth Century-Fox for sequences in "Café Metro," the romantic comedy in which they are starred with Adolphe Menjou, showing Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sunday.

Miss Young was scheduled to step out of the elevator toward the cameras, while Power remained in the car. It was lower to the basement of the sound stage. In the rush to make the scene, Power was forgotten in his basement berth where he shouted himself hoarse without being heard.

LATEST STANDING OF CONTESTANTS

The relative standing of the contestants in the Mountain Eagle's big $25,000.00 Advertising and Subscription Campaign, according to a count made on Wednesday night of this week, shows that the workers are really going after the subscriptions in earnest, and they are just literally pouring into the contest department.

As you will notice, a number of new ones have come into prominence since the last count was made, and if we hear aright, there will be some real fun from now on. All of the wide-awake workers are out in the lead, and WHO KNOWS just what the workers have up their sleeves?

CONTESTANTS WITH THEIR RELATIVE STANDING

Mrs. M. E. Moore,	Whitesburg, Ky.	844,000 Credits

If you have promised your subscription to your FAVORITE, right NOW is the time to give it, while it will count for the most.

Dark Horse Shows Up In Race For Jailer's Office

Word has just reached the ear of the Mountain Eagle, that all is not what it seems in the race for Jailer's Office. It is rumored that D. W. Little, Oil and Gas man of Whitesburg will seek the nomination on the Republican ticket. D. W. is a well known citizen of Letcher, and is expected to make the race, no doubt will cause cold chills to run up and down the back of some of the candidates.

Miss Lucille Bach, Jackson, arrived Tuesday to visit her father, Dr. B. C. Bach and Mrs. Bach.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ewen, and daughter, Mildred and Mrs. Kelly Ewen, Pikeville, spent Sunday in Whitesburg.

Candidates Working With Might And Main To Lead First Period

Great things are expected to happen in the Mountain Eagle's big $25,000.00 Advertising and Subscription campaign during the rest of this week, as all of the contestants who are out to head the list at the end of the First Period are going after the subscriptions as a terrific pace, and according to all reports, each and every one of the workers will come into the contest office Saturday night with reports that will be surprising.

The subscriptions are beginning to literally "pour" into the contest office, and from all indications, this race is going to be plenty hot from here on to the finish, which is as it should be.

With the honors thus far out even, it is going to be hard to tell just who will lead the race from one report to the next. All of the leading contestants are preparing with everlast haste to make things hum along, and they are not resting on their laurels.

A study of the list of contestants and their relative standings as published in this issue, will reveal that some of the names are new comers to the front and are real contenders for first honors, and it would not surprise one a little bit to see new workers come right on up the ladder, and the list when the next count of credits is made on Saturday night.

The credit schedule is going to take a big drop after this week and every one of the contestants and their helpers are doing everything in their power to get in ever prompt subscription before this happening. As all the workers know that after Saturday night, subscriptions will be counted for a small percentage of what they go right now.

EXTRA CREDITS, as announced in the last issue, are being allowed until the end of the First Period. All the contestants who are getting together are making their promised subscriptions.

The winners of the contest, or actual, is going to just "more support than wisher," who does not have the will power to make his or her wish come true. The big winners of the contest will be those who are getting their subscriptions in earnest, and at the same time "NO" for an answer.

Subscriptions are what it takes to win the contest. The winners of the contest will be those who are getting their subscriptions in earnest, and at the same time "NO" for an answer.

The Eagle is a newspaper that will sell anywhere in this trade area, and all that it takes for you to get subscriptions is to go out after them. The actual workers in this campaign know that it is going to be the results of this week's work that will have more to do with their winning or losing the prize of their choice than at any other time in the entire race.

They are gathering together all their subscriptions, so that they will count for the maximum number of credits, and it is practically assured that Saturday night's reports will be greater by far than all the other reports to date.

All of the wide awake contestants are laying deep plots where they can outwit their opponents, and we cannot help but wonder just who is going to be at the head of the list when the next count of credits is made.

Take the advice of one who knows and make each and every minute count from now until the First Period closes Saturday night. All reports that are put in the mail and post marked as of Saturday will count for the highest number of credits, and it is practically assured that Saturday night's reports will be greater by far than all the other reports to date.

Your friends and backers are so anxious to watch the results of the contest, that they will be made at the close of this period, and it is going to pay you to be as the top of the list as possible. You can head the list if you really try.

JOHN H. POLLY FOR CLERK

To the People of Letcher County:--

I wish to again make this statement for the benefit of those who may not know me personally. I am a son of Mr. and Mrs. Colonel Polly, of Whitesburg, married a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson R. Gibson of Whitesburg. My father was a son of Henry Polly, and my mother's maiden name was Ella Hall, a daughter of Old Isom Hall of Mayking, she is a sister to Isom Hall Jr., Dave Hall, Josh Hall, Henry Hall and Charley Hall. My wife's mother's maiden name was Bettie Webb, a daughter of old Wiley W. Webb of Little Cowan Creek, so you can readily see that I am related to the Webbs, Adams, Pollys, Hall's, Blair's, Gibsons, Maggards and darn near to the whole Adam family. I wish to further say that I was born and raised on a farm in old Letcher County, and this is my first time to ask the good people of this County for any office. I am now asking you for the office of "COUNTY CLERK" and if you will nominate me to this office, I will promise you that I will win for you in November. I am basing this statement on my 10 years of acquaintances with the miners in the coal fields and my broad relationship throughout the County. I am a poor man, now living on a farm on the highway near Mayking. I was taught by my good father and mother to live a clean life and to earn my living by honest work and to follow the Old Adage, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." This I have tried to do, to the best of my ability. My full determination is to run a clean race win or lose. I want to say to you that soon after July 1st, that I expect to try and see every voter in this county before the election day, should I miss any of you, don't get offended at me, but just come on to the polls and vote for me anyway and I certainly will appreciate it. You will hear from me from time to time in the columns of this paper, so I will close by thanking you in advance for anything you may do for me.

Ernest Collins Of Sackett Withdraws As Mag. Candidate

To all the voters of Magisterial District No. 3.

I filed in this district as a candidate for Magistrate, but have come to the conclusion, I am no more a candidate. All the Ex-Magistrates that have had the office in the past still are asking for office again. They have a habit of drinking strong coffee and want to keep it up and I don't use the weed.

So I will stand back and give them a chance to build more roads and improve this district, like they are selling the people they are going to do. If one of the old magistrates is elected and helps the people in the future like they have in the past in upkeeping the roads, etc., we will have good times for the next four years.

I am a standing candidate for the next four years for this office. By that time I hope the ex-magistrates will be run out and stand back and give me a chance. Please publish this in the Eagle.

Into Every Life Some Joy Must Fall; Or Why Eads Continue

The following letter, comes into the life of the editor of the Mountain Eagle as a rather interesting story. As every one knows who has ever been connected with a county paper, the life of the editor is no bed of roses. However, every now and then some kindly subscriber drops in with a friendly word of greeting, a little pat on the back, wipes away the sweat of the every day life. This letter written by one of our subscribers is indeed a "Ray of Sunshine." We most certainly will see that the young man receives his copy of the paper each week and hope that he gets as much joy out of reading it as we do in publishing it.

Dear Editor:
Believe it or not I was surprised to find the Mountain Eagle over here in Hawaii.

I was visiting one of my "Buddies" the other day and found he had received a copy of it from home, so naturally I had to sit down and read it. I was thrilled to read my home town paper and the news of my native county.

They are quite a many of future citizens over here in the "Paradise of the Pacific" who are anxious to see the Mountain Eagle as they are to see the Statute of Liberty as they were left off, for I think the Mountains are calling us all back.

I am sending $1.00 for our subscription of the good old paper have it to fly over as quick as possible and make it for we all are anxious to get it.

And if you have the room for our little ad to get in please print it. Sincerely,
SAMUEL ADAMS

Is It Necessary?

In the tragic death of the Frazier boys of Jenkins, lays a lesson for the law abiding citizens of Letcher county. Too many of us are peaceable, and law fearing until we get behind the wheel of an automobile. Then we evidently forget that we are human beings and go careening down the road in search of victims. More people are killed each year in automobile accidents that were killed in the whole period of the World War. And yet we do not seem to think it strange. An automobile in the hands of a reckless driver is a lethal machine. Death lays in every moving mechanism. Strict enforcement of the reckless driving laws seems to be the only solution to the problem. With a few shots of gin under the belt, an inflated ego, and a devil may care spirit, thousands go to meet their Maker.

Societies are formed for the prevention of war, thousands of dollars are spent each year for the eradication of disease and pestilence, but still the slaughter of human beings goes on day after day and month after month and not a ripple is seen on the mill pond of the human race.

"One Born Every Minute"

On the streets of Lynch the other day appeared a circular purporting to come from the president of a "Company Union." The sheet extolled the virtues of this plan of organization and decelerated the benefits coming from organization of miners under the banners of the United Mine Workers of America. To miners who have been employed in Union fields, a circular of this sort would cause only amusement. They have experienced both the non-union field as well as the union. To them there is only one organization of miners in the United States, and that is the United Mine Workers of America. However to those of the non-union field, however, experienced the feeling of security, the added dollars in the pay check, and the knowledge that they were protected on their jobs, the circular was a little campaign of extolling the virtues of regular organization. A little campaign of education is the best and surest way of convincing the uninitiated.

Letters To The Editor

Ison, Kentucky
June 22, 1937
Editor of The Mountain Eagle, Whitesburg, Ky.
Dear Sir:
I have noticed in the columns of your paper that several of our good friends of Letcher County have expressed their feeling in your paper in the interest of Cro. C. Caudill for County Clerk. I wish to say a word myself. First I have known Caudill since he was a mere child, and in early childhood we went to school together, and all his life he has enjoyed the friendship of all the people. When he was in a former campaign, I saw a nice piece of poetry that had been written about him, and I have kept that piece of poetry in my trunk ever since that time. When he was Clerk it seemed that he wanted everybody to come into the Clerk's office and talk to him, and feel as if they were at home, and I feel that the people of Letcher County would make no mistake in electing Cro. C. Caudill Clerk of Letcher County, for it is my opinion that he is a deserving man, and by misfortune in losing an arm, he is handicapped in so far as employment is concerned. But that other parties are in the same way no limits, so I hope the good people of Letcher County may see it as I do and elect him Clerk of Letcher County.

Very respectfully yours,
MRS. MAGGIE GALLHORN

Old Age Assistance Department Adopts New State Policy

A new policy that will require all applicants for Old Age Assistance to submit a sworn statement as a part of their applications, will become effective July 1, according to an announcement made this week by Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, Director of Public Assistance, Frankfort, Ky.

"An entirely new and different application blank has been prepared," the Director's statement says. "It could not be used in the beginning of the Old Age Assistance program in Kentucky due to the vast number of aged persons who desire to file applications for aid but now with upwards of 40,000 applications received and approved and many others investigated and rejected because they did not meet the requirements of the present law, the new-type application form can be introduced."

This new feature in connection with Old Age Assistance administration in Kentucky is expected to aid materially in cutting down the number of applications filed by ineligible persons. It will also enable the Public Assistance Division to enforce penalties provided for in the statements in connection with applications for Old Age Assistance.

Besides containing a sworn statement, the new application form also includes several additional features not found in the old form in use since the beginning of the program in Kentucky. It will require information pertaining to age and residence, and an agreement to reimburse the Commonwealth of Kentucky for assistance given.

Another feature of the new policy is that each and every applicant for Old Age Assistance must fill out his application form in the presence of a Notary Public, a Field Worker of the Division of Public Assistance, or some other person authorized by law to acknowledge oaths. The applicant, after answering all of the questions required on the application form, must make a sworn statement that his answers are true and correct to the best of his knowledge and belief, and he must then sign his application in person, using his signature or his mark as it will appear on checks or other legal papers.

Explaining the new policy in connection with application for Old Age Assistance, Dr. Lloyd's statement says in part: "In the past considerable difficulty was created for the Division of Public Assistance, due to the fact that many applicants for assistance permitted some friend or relative to sign their applications. This, of course, was not in conformity with the rules and regulations of the Division of Public Assistance which require that actual legal signature of an applicant shall be submitted. To meet this situation, the Division had to provide a special signature card to supplement the application blank. The new application form, by securing the actual signature of the applicant, will eliminate this difficulty."

By having each applicant for Old Age Assistance submit a sworn statement as a part of his application, the Division of Public Assistance will be able in the future to enforce penalties provided for persons attempting by false statements to obtain aid for themselves or for some other person. The number of such applications has not been large in the past, but it is expected that they will be entirely eliminated in the future.

The Division of Public Assistance is doing everything within its power to assure that every eligible needy person in Kentucky shall receive the assistance to which he is entitled under the existing law, and at the same time protect the taxpayers of the State from being called upon to provide for those persons not needy, or who are ineligible for other reasons. The cooperation of all respectable citizens in very community solicited in the administration of the McCarthy-Ramey Old Age Assistance Act.

Mrs. A. M. Grider, Ballard county, sold enough turnip seed and other garden seeds to buy a pressure cooker.

The Farm Bureau of Breckinridge county cooperated in buying 40,000 pounds of isopetesta seed.

The Fall Garden

(By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture)

In June we may plant the fall garden in spaces where earlier vegetable crops. Crops that can mature before frost will be of value, and it is better than letting these spots grow up in weeds. An important fall garden crop is beets. Sowing time for beets to store for the winter is any time in June, still early enough for moisture to be present in amount to sprout the seed. Once up, the seedlings take care of themselves, even in dry, hot weather. It may be that the flea beetles will need needing only spraying with Borboughing but that is not difficult. Deaux mixture, to which an arsenical should be added to take care of any chewing insects that may be present at the time. Two sprayings are usually enough, the first while the plants are in seedling stage, and the second, two weeks after.

The ground should be prepared in the same way as when the spring sowing of beets was made. If the soil can be had, some manure should be worked into the seed bed, and fertilizer used besides. If the soil is of easily workable texture, the manure may be omitted. Good fertilizer to use is 3-8-6, 4-10-4 or 5-10-5, and the amount should be one pound to 30 feet of row, sired over a band 10 to 12 inches wide. The seed bed should be 6 inches deep to offer reservoir for any showers that may fall.

The seed should be sown at the rate of one ounce to 50 ft. of row, in beds part and from any other crop. When the seedlings are up, thinning should be done to leave a stand of from 1 1/2 inches to 2 inches. Hand weeding should be done in the rows, to remove all competition for moisture, often sown at this season. Besides, the middles should be cultivated shallowly, but to cover them completely. The soil should be left level, further to conserve moisture for the beets. No "hills" or ridges should be made.

If seed is sown before July, Deaux mixture should be used for the first, and the variety to use, for it matures large beets in the storing condition, by the time first frost may be expected. If planting is done later, one of the spring varieties, Crosby's Egyptian or Bellise should be used. Instead of though not so good in color, size and texture, these sorts can be kept in storage quite acceptably.

Whatever varieties are used, there will be some small beets too immature and tender to store without shriveling, but these may be canned. An excellent by-product, too, is beet "greens" to provide a change from a diet that may have become somewhat monotonous by late summer.

Certainly, in many ways, late beets will prove welcome, and their planting should not be overlooked. The time is now.

How New State Prison Will Look

Architect's drawing of the new state prison is shown above. The new institution which is to be erected on the prison farm of 2,800 acres recently purchased in Oldham County, will be one the most modern prisons in the nation. All the better features of the best prisons in the United States have been combined in an effort to provide an institution that will make possible an intelligent effort to salvage those law violators who are convicted in courts.

Every cell will have an outside exposure, assuring healthful, sanitary conditions. This the most modern prison will replace the old reformatory at Frankfort which is perhaps the most inadequate, unwholesome prison to be found in any state. The new structure is being built with money obtained from the FWA and a state appropriation made by the last legislature.

This is the first major project undertaken in an effort to rehabilitate the antiquated penal and charitable institutions of the state.

The prison at Edinville is being enlarged and will be used as the institution in which is confined prisoners of the type that require maximum security.

Inmates of the old Frankfort reformatory, which was rendered uninhabitable by the flood, are now quartered in temporary barracks on the Oldham county prison farm.

Their labor is being utilized in improving the farm and in producing food stuff which will be used in the state institutions.

Reports Study Of Louisville Fruit, Vegetable Market

The importance of Louisville as a wholesale fruit and vegetable market is emphasized in a bulletin recently issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky. Between 11,000 and 12,000 carloads are handled on the market yearly. Fruits and vegetables are shipped into Louisville from every important producing area in this country as well as from some foreign countries.

The Louisville market serves Southern Indiana and all of Kentucky except the extreme western and eastern counties and north-eastern counties.

The growth of trucking has helped the Louisville market, the bulletin points out, because of the city's location with respect to markets in northern and southern states. Located on north-south arterial highways and midway between important northern and southern markets, Louisville is a convenient point for the exchange of produce.

Thus the city has become the terminus for fleets of trucks operating from the northern producing areas and from the southern producing areas. It is noted that this situation provides opportunities for the sale of locally-grown fruits and vegetables, and lays the foundation for a large wholesale fruit and vegetable market which will not only serve the city of Louisville but will supply a much larger trade territory than is reached at the present time.

Farm Program Big Lift To Stockmen

Inquiries for cows and breeding stock continue to indicate a steadily growing interest in dairying in Kentucky, according to a statement from the College of Agriculture at Lexington. Farmers are not only milking more cows but are demanding better cows, says Prof. Fordyce Ely.

Beginning July 1, there will be eight dairy herd improvement associations in the state, containing about 170 herds and 3,700 cows. Each association employs a cester who ferrets out the poor producing cows, which are sold and replaced with better stock.

Help also is given association members in problems feeding, breeding and management in the care and handling of milk, cream and other dairy products.

Prof. Ely calls attention to the value of the national farm program to cow owners. Through the great increase in the production of home feeds, as a result of the farm program, dairy men will find cows more profitable than ever, he believes. Vast acreages of alfalfa, clovers, lespedeza and other hay and pasture crops are being sown in every county in the state.

In growing these hay and pasture crops farmers improve their land and much-needed home feed supplies, and at the same time put themselves in position to receive payments from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Sheep breeders and beef cattle raisers also are finding that the farm program fits in with their plans to increase livestock production and diversify their farming operations.

Johnson Farmers To Grow Strawberries

With 40 acres of commercial berries marketed this year, definite plans have been made for the development of strawberry production in Johnson county. At least 100 acres will be set next year, farmers signing up to turn under cowpens and eye in preparation for setting one to three acres each. At least 30 4-H club boys also will have a quarter-acre more each.

The market opened this year at $3.00 a crate, most of the berries going to Ashland, Huntington, and Charleston. Ben Niles, secretary of the Kentucky State Horticultural Society, and W. W. Magill, extension field agent for the State College of Agriculture, assisted County agent Justice L. Paddock and farmers in formulating plans for the development of the industry.

Approximately 125 Ohio county farmers have planted tomatoes to sell to canneries.

Cladwell county home-makers plan to can at least 100 quarts of 12 kinds of food for each member of the family.

Forty acres of alfalfa were sown this spring for demonstration purposes in Letcher county.

Vaccination has checked the appearance of hog cholera in several Kentucky counties.
